

Dear Assembly,

I am writing to persuade you to let Athenian girls be educated at school. As a girl at the age of 10 I feel it is important for us girls to have an education. I really enjoy reading and writing and hope to become a teacher when older.

As my family is quite wealthy I have been educated to run the household ( in which there lives slaves ) and to cook and clean. Girls are proven to be cleverer then boys but the law of Athens says girls are not allowed to be educated at school.

I really hope you take notice of my letter as I love learning.

Yours Sincerely,

Ms Lucy Dilley
